

Geometric Theorem Proving

Rob Lewis
December 13, 2007

I'm talking about proving geometric theorems using algebra. I'll go over how to translate theorems into algebraic terms, show some examples, and then talk about how it fits into what we've been talking about (ideal membership, etc). There are a few catches that one needs to work through to get a useful result, so I'll work through those.